Hello! My name is Kim Madigan, aka "MadCat", and I am the owner of "Simply MadCats".

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself and to share with you how my services may benefit your clients.

As a professional organizer, my mission is to assist people downsize & simplify their life.

My services include:

- Home and business organization for those who are feeling overwhelmed in their space.
- Preparing a home for the initial RE listing, open houses & the final walk through. (De-cluttering, purging & staging).
- Arranging for consignment and or donation of gently loved home furnishings and collectibles. (Please note: I personally do not sell items or conduct estate sales).
- Packing and assisting in the physical move of a home or business.
- Setting up a new home or business space. (Unpacking, clutter free decorating, simple storage and organizational systems).

If you know of anyone who may be interested in my services, I would appreciate if you would pass along my business card or contact information.

There is a saying: "If you give someone a fish they will eat for a day; if you teach someone to fish they will eat for a lifetime". I take pride in teaching my clients how to downsize their "stuff" so they may live a simpler and more organized life.

Thank you for allowing me this opportunity to introduce myself. Feel free to give me a call if you would like to schedule a time for me to swing by your office so that I may answer any questions you or your colleagues may have.

Keep it simple,

Kim Madigan
